FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Dear Members,

This year our chapter is dedicating the proceeds of many of our special events to a new $3 million campaign, “Sustaining the Mind: Scientific Research and Scholarships,” which will establish an endowed fund for neuroscience and neurodegenerative disease research and scholarships for students in the sciences.

In less than 75 years, one quarter of the world will be more than 65 years of age. Many will be afflicted with conditions that “catch up” with us as we age – Alzheimer’s, Parkinson’s and Lou Gehrig’s – debilitating diseases that Brandeis researchers are racing to conquer.

Brandeis University scientists are working to discover the underpinnings of brain-related disorders and to address such questions as: How are brains constructed? How is brain health maintained during adult life? What happens during normal aging or disease to impair brain functions?

Whether you attend a luncheon, put a message in a tribute book, go on a trip to the Dali museum, attend a lunch and learn, or make a special gift/donation to the campaign, know that you are providing financial aid to worthy, talented young people and supporting leading edge scientific research.

To learn more about the neurological disease research at Brandeis, come to the University on Wheels on January 13, 2012 when Brandeis Professor Melissa Kosinski-Collins will visit us to discuss “How is it that our brains function perfectly for six or seven decades and then suddenly begin to self-destruct?” (see pg 4) I’ll see you there!

Warmly,

Carol Benjamin

“WHEN GOOD PROTEINS GO BAD: An introduction to neurological disease research at Brandeis University”

How is it that our brain functions perfectly for 59 years (or 65 years? Or 70 years?) and then suddenly begins to self destruct at an alarming rate?

Professor Kosinski-Collins will introduce you to the molecules in our brain with no known function other than to cause the destruction of memory. She will also explain how a protein's degeneration leads to such debilitating diseases as autism, Lou Gehrig's, and Parkinson's. And she will talk about current ongoing studies at Brandeis and possible future therapies for disease treatment.

Please send reservations (by January 7) to Selma Nutinsky, 13859B Via Aurora, Delray Beach, FL 33484

Bingo at JARC

JARC offers a uniquely rewarding volunteer opportunity. Our involvement makes a meaningful difference in the lives of the developmentally challenged adults (residents of JARC homes) who are delighted to have us share some of our time with them—playing Bingo and visiting. If you would like to be added to the list of volunteers (we visit with all our residents at JARC Headquarters once a month for about an hour and a half), please contact one of us at the numbers listed below!

Wonders of the Brandeis Book Store

"This book store is filled with every imaginary treasure. The women who run the store are wonderful, brilliant and engaging." – a devoted customer, Mia Plotaker

The Brandeis Used Book Store of Boca Raton was opened in 1995. Run entirely by Brandeis volunteers, it is operated by four Brandeis National Committee chapters – Boca Raton, Delray Beach, Trails and Pompano Beach. Audrey Bernstein, a former president of the Boca Raton chapter, was a founder and manager and very dedicated to this project. Now it is operated by Molly Seiden.

The volunteers, some of who have done so for over twelve years, come to the store once or twice a week and are truly "book people," ready to help customers find exactly the kind of book they might enjoy. Many teachers bring their students to buy their school books and grandparents love to treat grandchildren with special books of their choice. Books that are not sold have been given to retirement homes, prisons and needy children.

You may bring in your books to the store to donate them, or, if you call, someone from the Brandeis Book Store will come to your house and pick up donations. Come and Visit!

The book store is located in the Boca Hampton Center on Lyons Road between Glades and Yamato. Open Monday - Saturday 9:30am to 5:00 pm (561) 852-3650.
